
I will tell you where the Springs are... In return, you will be in debt to me. Like I said, I need nothing from you right now, but I will in the future. When that time comes, you will not refuse to give me what I want.